7th INTERNATIONAL MARCH FOR THE FREEDOM OF OPPRESSED MINORITIES AND PEOPLES

PARIS
SATURDAY 11 OCTOBER, 2014 - 2 p.m.

From Statue de la Liberté - Pont de Grenelle to the Esplanade du Trocadéro

The Liberal Cultural Association SOCIETÀ LIBERA and the exiled COMMUNITIES OF OPPRESSED MINORITIES AND PEOPLES are promoting the 7th INTERNATIONAL MARCH FOR FREEDOM.

From Tibet to Iran, from Eastern Turkestan to Vietnam, from Laos to Armenia, Human Rights are denied in more than a quarter of the Countries of the World. The Western World cannot remain silent, the European Institutions and we, the peoples of Europe, must be aware that by safeguarding everybody's freedom we will also defend our freedom.

We cannot remain indifferent to the deprivation of fundamental rights that hundreds of millions of people are enduring, we cannot simply express an unspecific kind of solidarity and a "do-goodism", this isn't enough anymore. We need to prove that we firmly believe that all Peoples have the right to freedom and self-determination.

Having this will, we are meeting in Paris, marching in silence in defense of the rights of the Peoples, believing that the freedoms of the person must necessarily become an international priority.
