8th INTERNATIONAL MARCH FOR THE FREEDOM OF OPPRESSED MINORITIES AND PEOPLES
ROME - PARIS SATURDAY 10 OCTOBER, 2015 AT 4 PM

The Liberal Cultural Association SOCIETÀ LIBERA and the COMMUNITIES OF OPPRESSED MINORITIES AND PEOPLES living in exile are promoting simultaneously in Paris and Rome the 8th INTERNATIONAL MARCH FOR FREEDOM.

Our world will not be stable until the political life, territorial unity and identity of all Peoples are imposed by means of force. Freedom, intended as the fundamental right of each individual Person which includes the right to self-determination of any People, is not an obstacle to international stability but rather its very prerequisite.

Only individuals and Peoples free to pursue their aspirations and happiness will feel as truly belonging to their own respective countries, thus contributing to a greater social cohesion while safeguarding their own identity.

Before the deprivation of fundamental human rights and freedom, suffered by hundreds of million of people we do not wish to remain unmoved. Europe needs to mobilise by placing the defence of Human Rights as a priority in international relations, whether political or economical. The peoples of Europe cannot ignore the fact that their liberty is safeguarded only by defending the liberty of all the peoples of the world.

Pursuing this belief we shall therefore march silently in Paris and Rome together with the Burmese, Cambodian, Iranian, Khmer Kampuchean, Kurdish, Laotian, Syrian, Tibetan, Uyghur, and Vietnamese peoples and communities.
